"In The Beginning"

"Grant us brotherhood, not only for this day but for all our years—a brotherhood not of words but of acts and deeds. We are all of us children of earth—grant us that simple knowledge. If our brothers are oppressed, then we are oppressed. If they hunger we hunger. If their freedom is taken away our freedom is not secure."

Stephen Vincent Benet

DEDICATION

Our years at East Side High have been not only educational but enjoyable as well. A great part of our education has been learning to live and work together, regardless of religion, race or color. This close bond of brotherhood has enabled us to venture into the world, the very best of American citizens.

It is because of this shared good will that we have made many of our accomplishments in studies, sports activities and the act of maturing. We have learned to treat our neighbors as we ourselves wish to be treated.

Brotherhood is a seed which must be planted, nurtured, and fed in order to survive. As we leave East Side, we shall be able to carry this seed, which has grown and blossomed in our hearts, and plant it in the hearts of those whom we shall meet.

Much is written about brotherhood; there are songs about it, movies on it, and one week out of each year is set aside for it. But we, the seniors of East Side, have it in our hearts fifty-two weeks of the year and in tribute to this, we solemnly dedicate our 1962 Torch.

ADMINISTRATION

A. WALTER ACKERMAN
Principal

Our four years at East Side have been happy and fruitful, owing to many influences, one of the most important being our school administration.

Mr. Ackerman and Mr. Griffiths will often be remembered by us for their genuine interest in our welfare.

TO THE CLASS OF JUNE 1962:

I am, of course, delighted to have this opportunity to convey my congratulations and good wishes to all the members of this fine class. I believe that you are justified in looking backward with pride upon four years of solid accomplishment.

You have selected an impressive and appropriate theme for your year-book. This is a tribute to your impeccable taste. It is gratifying, indeed, to note how well all East Siders exemplify this truly American spirit of brotherhood and understanding. This spirit has always been present in this school, and in this remarkable Iron-bound community.

A. Walter Ackerman

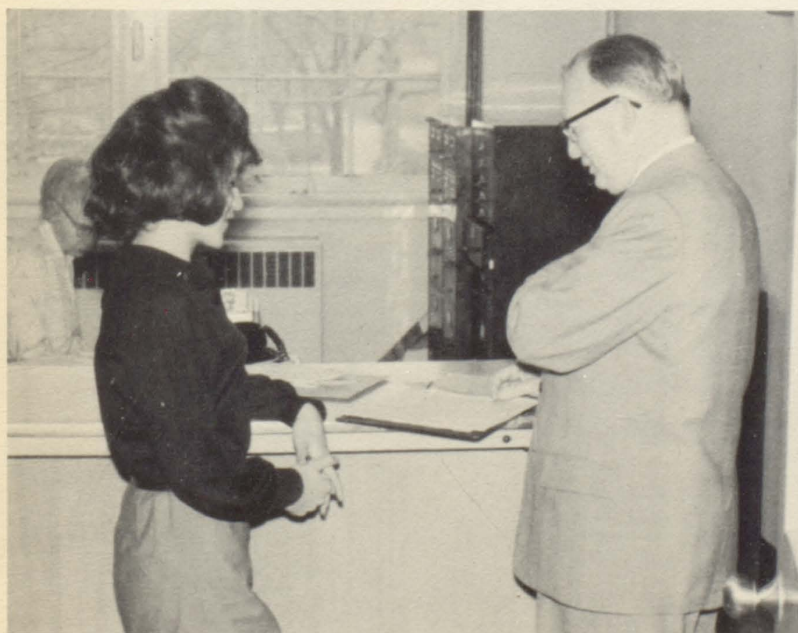

Mr. Ackerman congratulates "freedom rider" after address to East Side students.

To these two men, who have made East Side the kind of school we have been proud to attend, we extend our respect, our friendship and our lasting thanks.

LEWIS GRIFFITHS
Vice Principal

Mr. Griffiths advises student on scholarship record.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS:

Each individual, with his own pattern of interests and abilities, must work out his own approach to life's problems. The faculty and I, at East Side, hope we have helped equip you for life's journey—with fortitude and willingness to learn, with imagination and good sense, and with all other abiding values, so essential to gain and hold the confidence and good will of all peoples with whom you come in daily contact.

My best wishes for your continued success.

Lewis Griffiths

ADAM M. STANISLAWCZYK
Class Advisor

A part of East Side goes with each member of this graduating class. The future of every one of you will be influenced by the knowledge, the guidance, and the instruction which you received here. Your efforts and cooperation aided you in achieving your goal of getting a high school education. May your experiences and friendships at East Side bring you pleasant memories in the years ahead. I wish you happiness and Godspeed.

Adam M. Stanislawczyk

CLASS ADVISOR

Our warmest appreciation goes to Mr. Stanislawczyk, our class advisor.

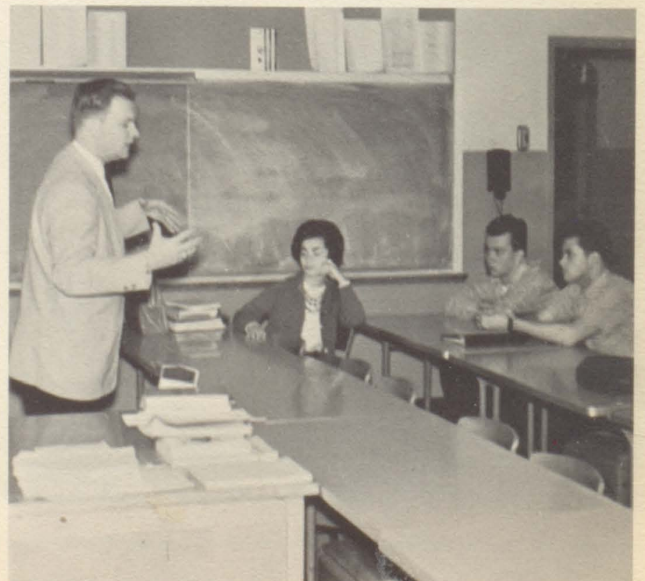

Throughout our memorable junior and senior years he has been both a dedicated advisor and, best of all, a good friend.

The wisdom he has displayed, his sincere friendship and kind manner are only a few of many attributes which endear him to us.

His patience with our mistakes, his tolerance with our differences of opinion and his selflessness in giving his time for our benefit are more of the many reasons we have to offer him our heartfelt gratitude and everlasting thanks.

Our Own Smiling "Mr. Stan."

Mr. Stanislawczyk consults with Executive Council at 8:00 A.M.

BERNICE POLL
Year Book Counselor

We wish to thank our counselors, who not only have guided us through our problems, both real and imaginary, during these past four years, but who also have helped set us on the path leading to a happy, successful and satisfying future in which we shall become contributing citizens of our society.

FACULTY

"What greater or better gift can we offer the republic than to teach and instruct our youth?"

—Cicero

Teachers at East Side are an integral part of school life. Not only are they dedicated in their teaching but give freely of their time to the many extra-curricular activities.

A glance at the list of the many and varied clubs functioning at East Side, is a clue to the great contribution they make to the enrichment of our lives.

We depend on our teachers for all the little things that make going to school fun: the singing groups, the bands, extra-curricular sports, school government, the dances, shows and assembly programs, and lastly our senior activities.

Without the voluntary assistance provided by our teachers, by coming in early and staying late, chaperoning our dances and taking us on trips, planning our activities and working along with us, we would miss all the extras that make school something special and memorable.

For all these many things we are duly grateful. We are thankful, most of all, for that little extra help when the work gets difficult, the encouragement when things go wrong, and the little push in the right direction when we start to stray.

"To live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die."

With quiet and patience, Charlotte willingly undertook all tasks delegated to her. Her sweet disposition made her welcome everywhere, and her sincerity was always well respected by her fellow students.

She will be deeply missed by her many close friends, and often remembered by all the class.

Class Officers, plus the Executive Board, have the job of guiding the class during both the junior and senior grades through their many exciting activities. It is this hard working group of students which does the planning, organizing, and directing. They deserve a word of praise for all their endeavors.

Making a decision.

THE ELECTION OF 1962

In October, East Side Seniors went to the polls. Many elections have been held before, but this time a real voting machine was used!

In the process of choosing senior class officers, a lesson in voting procedure was learned, and an introduction to the democratic process of electing leaders by the will of the majority was experienced.

For those students who were candidates and the class as a whole, the campaign was an exciting reality. There was the fun of making posters, getting petitions signed, campaigning for the different candidates, finally voting, then waiting tensely for the results.

On October 6, at three p.m., when the results were made known, those who won and those who lost could all be satisfied with a job well done.

The East Side Story

Our story opens on a quiet street in Newark, New Jersey. We are standing on the steps of a large city high school. In front of us is a small, tree-lined park. As we stand in the chill morning air the area is quiet except for an occasional car whizzing by and the tolling of church bells in the distance. Gradually the scene changes and as the hour of eight approaches, more and more students gather in groups and begin to enter the now open front doors.

Let us follow them in and continue the "East Side Story."

The last dash.

Those crowded lockers.

All quiet on the eastern front.

"I'll see you at 2:30."

Number, number, who has the number?

Hurry up, the warning bell rang!

Keep smiling before that test.

The power of positive thinking.

Swallow it!

Time out for defense.

Will you take pennies?

"Dior" creations in the gym.

Last minute review.

Just like home cooking.

Patience and fortitude.

Let's look at the record.

Food for thought.

REFLECTIONS

Remember a warm September day in 1958 when we, a large group of starry-eyed boys and girls, streamed through the unfamiliar portals of East Side High School? Here in this mysterious and frightening place we would spend the better part of our teenage lives. As we looked at our surroundings, we were overcome by a feeling of awe and fear, fear of what fate had in store for us, and awe of all we had yet to learn. Many questions rushed through our minds: Would we be popular, would we pass our subjects, and most important of all, would we be accepted by the other students?

What a confusing year that was! Recall the first week, trying so hard to find our classes without looking conspicuous. All the trouble we had finding the gym! We got there, but more than a little late.

Certainly nothing could have been more thrilling than the excitement of our first football rally in the assembly, with the loud booming of the drums and all the bright colors. We sat with staring eyes, gaping mouths and twisting necks, not knowing what to look at first; as the football players came quickly onto the stage, the cheerleaders led us enthusiastically in cheers, and the twirlers strutted down the aisle. For the first time, we felt caught up in the spirit of East Side, and a part of that elusive something known as tradition.

During our sophomore year we began to lose our shyness and gradually we started to become a part of clubs and other activities. We tried out for teams, volunteered for committees, and dreamed of the day when we would be the heroes of the games and the leaders of the clubs. We studied and struggled, we made friends, and got to know our teachers a little better. On Saturdays we cheered the football team, and once we even peeked in at a dance, but we didn't stay too long. Work, play, friends, and family—a pattern of our lives was beginning to emerge.

Junior year was upon us before we realized it. Our pride showed itself in our eyes as we displayed our school rings, the symbol of upper classmen. The junior class election was a thrilling experience. Everyone had an opportunity to vote for the candidate of his choice for class officers. No one will forget our first dance, held on Friday the 13th, fittingly called "Mystical Night." Our next dance was just as much fun. As we danced the Irish jig on St. Patrick's Day, we had the Irish as well as the East Side spirit in our souls. We could relax now. East Side had become a place we knew very well. We had many friends and acquaintances, and we looked forward to each day and all it would bring. The biggest event of our junior year was the Junior Prom, "Aloha." It wasn't hard to imagine ourselves on a lovely South Sea island. The romantic music, the palm trees decorating the gym, the girls dressed in bright colors, added to the gay atmosphere.

Soon, too soon, the fun of junior year was over, but we were overcome with joy when we realized that we were SENIORS. We had made it! Yet we were saddened by the thought that only one year remained, the year of decision. We would have to decide whether to choose college or employment, where to apply, what job to accept, for what future to plan.

Our year began with a real election for senior class officers, voting machine and all. We certainly received a lesson in election procedures. It seemed the term had just started, yet it was already Christmas. We had parties in homeroom and then our dance, complete with Santa Claus and a tremendous tree. Everyone was very gay. We worked hard this senior year. We had to. Some of us were accelerating and taking extra courses. We seniors were the ones who were now responsible for leading the clubs, running the school government, playing on the varsity teams, editing the publications, acting in the senior play. What had happened to the years when we just dreamed about all of this?

We went to the variety show, the senior play, the Mardi Gras dance and finally the night the girls had planned for so long finally arrived, Senior Prom night. Will you ever forget the excitement as we danced till dawn under the dim lights? Everyone looked so different, so grown up. Senior year had been flying by faster than we ever imagined it could. There was so much to do and so little time. It suddenly made us realize how far we had come in four years. We saw our friends smiling and dancing and wondered where they would be next year at this time. We looked at our partners and wondered if this dance would be a beginning or an end.

At the farewell get-together, there was hardly a dry eyed senior among us. We realized that this would be the last time we would meet as a class. Graduation was approaching, and for the second time in four years that feeling of fear was plaguing us. East Side had protected us, it had been our home away from home, and now we were leaving her to walk alone in the unknown world. Again that old feeling of fear and confusion engulfed us. This time, as before, the fear quickly left us.

Graduation, and as we stood on the stage receiving our diplomas, we looked out into the proud, smiling faces of our parents, friends, and teachers. It was then we realized that we had nothing to fear or dread. We were no longer starry-eyed adolescents, but mature individuals, ready to face whatever was in store for us. We knew we were prepared to take our places in the world.

JUNIOR PROM

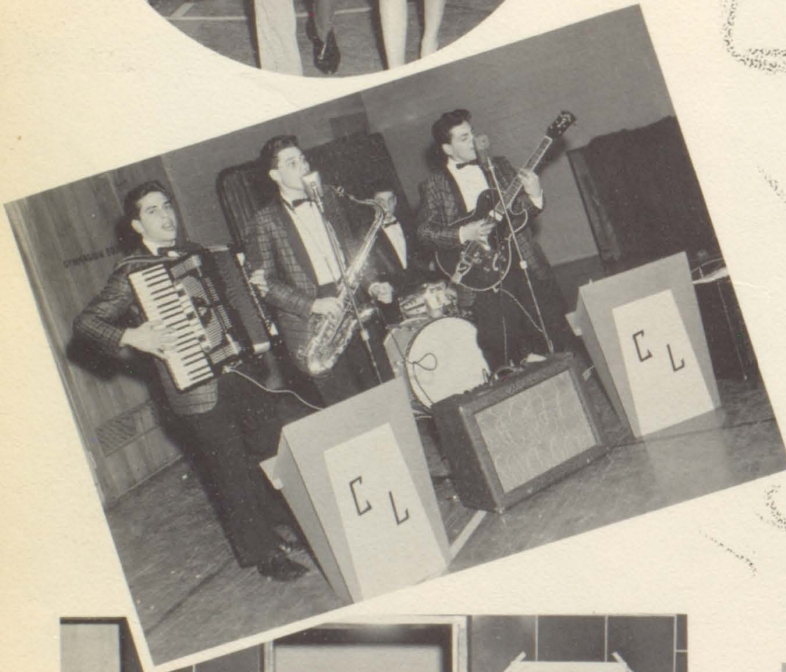

"Aloha", the theme of our Junior Prom, will be remembered for a long time. How could anyone forget the palm trees, hula dancer, and the impersonations of Keely Smith and Louis Prima? The music put us right in the Hawaiian mood. As we danced with our partners, we couldn't have asked for a happier night.

SPRING DANCE

They said it couldn't be done! Well, the Mardi Gras did come to East Side.

Bouncing balloons, gay music, whirling skirts, and the sparkle of a real coronation of the King and Queen added up to a most unusual and exciting night.

As we reminisce about our first senior dance, we can still picture the gay decorations, the bright Christmas tree, Santa Claus with his surprises, the mistletoe, and all the goodies. We were filled with the spirit of Christmas as never before. It was over before we realized, but our memories of all the fun we had had planning for it, decorating the gym, and dancing the night away will always remain a pleasant memory.

SLEIGHBELL SERENADE

Take That!

Curtain Call.

Dressing the Stage and Actors.

"Curtain Going Up"

"Where's that prop?"

"Hurry with the make-up . . . please!"

"Listen to my line again!"

"Oh, I'm so nervous!"

These are some of the many exclamations you would have heard had you been backstage the night of the senior play.

The audience began filling the auditorium, and the excitement could be felt in the air. Then the signal was given for curtain time and the play to begin.

It was a relief for the cast to get started, for their tensions had built up the past three months as they rehearsed daily, and now the end was in sight.

The sinking feeling in the pit of their stomachs, the smell of grease paint, the fluttering pulses, the fear of forgetting lines, all disappeared with the signal, "On stage".

Like magic, their doubts vanished. With a collective sigh the cast took its place; the curtain went up, and the play was on.

Then soon, too soon, it was all over; the fun, the fear, the glamour, the bows and the applause. The curtain closed, the stage darkened, and sadly they realized one of the happiest events of their senior year was over.

MEMORIES

When we realize that our years at East Side are over, certain events and memories stand out. These things we'll remember most —

Our first year at school, everything was new, strange and a little frightening but we quickly got into the swing of things.

We attended the second Annual Spook Hop.

Two weeks later we were awed by the presence of Dore Scharf, famed playwright and producer, who spoke to the senior assembly on Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

We were amazed to learn that we were among the one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-three students enrolled at East Side High.

The Student Council published a handbook to help us get to know our school better.

Seven new clubs were started for our enjoyment, among them the Pep Club, to cheer on our athletes.

Those lucky Seniors! Their prom was held at the Essex House. Four weeks later the ninetieth commencement took place at East Side.

Inspired by Dore Scharf's talk, the History Club decided to go to Hyde Park, home of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The Drama Club presented the play, "The Mask."

We had some sad news though. We lost the football title to Barringer, and the soccer team placed second.

The privilege of "gold passes", which allowed their holders to leave classes whenever they wanted, was given to the hard working students who achieved the superior honor roll.

Carol Ann Murphy won honorable mention for her poem "Time" on W.B.G.O.

The year ended with Student Council Elections, the Senior Prom at the Military Park Hotel and the ninety-first commencement.

In September, 1959, after the long, wonderful vacation, we returned to school.

We were all very proud when Tom Darchy met Mayor Carlin on W.B.G.O.'s series, "City Desk", which discussed city government.

Through the efforts of the Student Council, the Student Lounge was opened. In it, students danced to a jukebox and could play ping-pong.

We did it! The football team won the city title and Mr. Manhoff was named the coach of the year. He praised Mr. Murano, his assistant, for doing a great job.

The Senior Prom, "Stairway to the Stars", and graduation said farewell to 102 of East Side's best.

The Announcer got a new look, four larger pages to give us more reading enjoyment.

The Spring Festival, "South Pacific", was an unforgettable experience to all who saw it.

The Student Council initiated, to an enthusiastic response, Dress Up Day, set for every Wednesday.

Betty Sierzega won a four-day, all-expense trip to the Pocono Mountains for being Junior Achievement champion of Essex and Hudson counties.

The track team got a girl manager, but the baseball team did better. They won the city title.

About 200 students went to the Shakespearean festival in Stratford, Connecticut.

We were very proud when our own Jerry Murano, President of the Student Council, won the Newark Citizenship Award.

The year ended with the graduation of 270 students. Alas, another year was gone.

As one year passed, another year started. September 1960 — and we were juniors at last! The first thing we remember is Mr. Stan's pleading for dues. He and Mrs. Matarazzo were made permanent advisors for the graduating classes.

Mr. Rossi, our new soccer coach, guided our team to the city title.

The East Side football and baseball teams also won city title. This meant a triple crown for East Side. The football team placed four on the All-City first string team. They were: Fred Williamson, Bill Levant, Bob Hoarle, and Tom Carrubba.

As election time drew near, the Announcer took a poll on whom the students would choose for United States President if they could vote. Their preference seemed to coincide with that of the rest of the U.S.A.

Mr. Bloch became the new advisor of the History Club after Mr. Posner stepped down. The club's annual trip this year was to Gettysburg. Forty-five students spent the day touring historic sites and having a wonderful time.

The first Junior Prom, held in the gym, turned East Side into a South Sea Island. The prom was under the direction of Mr. Stan, with Mr. Di Nardo providing the Hawaiian Music.

Despite all the good times, there were some sad events we shall remember. Senior "Rec" Day was ended before our class had a chance to participate. The Senior Cafeteria was converted into a "Torch", "Announcer", and "Student Council" Office. No more privacy for the seniors.

Another graduation ended another year.

Hurrah, the class of '62! We're seniors at last!

The first thing we did was to choose senior officers. They were Danny Wanca, president; Elizabeth Cantalupo, vice president; Evelyn Deveck, secretary; and Camille Tresente, treasurer.

Before we left school in June we had chosen Clem Maccia, Marjorie Metzker, Maxine Boatwright, and Joseph Fiordaliso as officers of the Student Council. So management of school activities was in good hands.

We held our first dance, "The Mistletoe Hop." It was a great success for the Senior Class.

We picked our "Torch" staff, headed by Ann Rios, with Mrs. Poll as advisor.

After mid term, things really got hectic. Auditioning started for the Senior Play.

The Student Council did some great things this last year. They put new furniture in the Student Lounge. They also held a drive for the Retarded Children's Fund and collected $500.

In our last half year at school so many exciting things happened that it's hard to recall them all.

There was the Valentine Contest where the students of East Side picked the school sweetheart. The finalists were Kathy Egan, Frances Ferraro, Marie Policastro, Judi Milano and finally, Miss Valentine—Judy D'Amorin.

The Spring Musical, produced by the Student Council, was a great success. It starred—Geraldine Domingo, Cathy Catena, and Sonia Gomez.

The Senior Play, "Curtain Going Up", kept all the seniors quite busy. Nick Tanzola, Tony Cuzzolino, Steve Holowenzak, Grace Zaneski, Eleanor Dobrinski, Evelyn Janowski, Clem Maccia, Manuel Patata, Maxine Boatwright, John Hajian and many other seniors did a wonderful job, and the play was a tremendous success. It dealt with the problems a teacher had in putting on a class play. This was very fitting for Mr. Hailperin, our director.

The great night finally arrived. Our Senior Prom — it was held at the Essex House. All the Seniors enjoyed a wonderful evening of dining and dancing, one that they will never forget.

After the prom one event followed another. We had the awards assembly, the Farewell Dance, Senior Banquet, Senior Picnic and finally the long walk down the aisle to "Pomp and Circumstance."

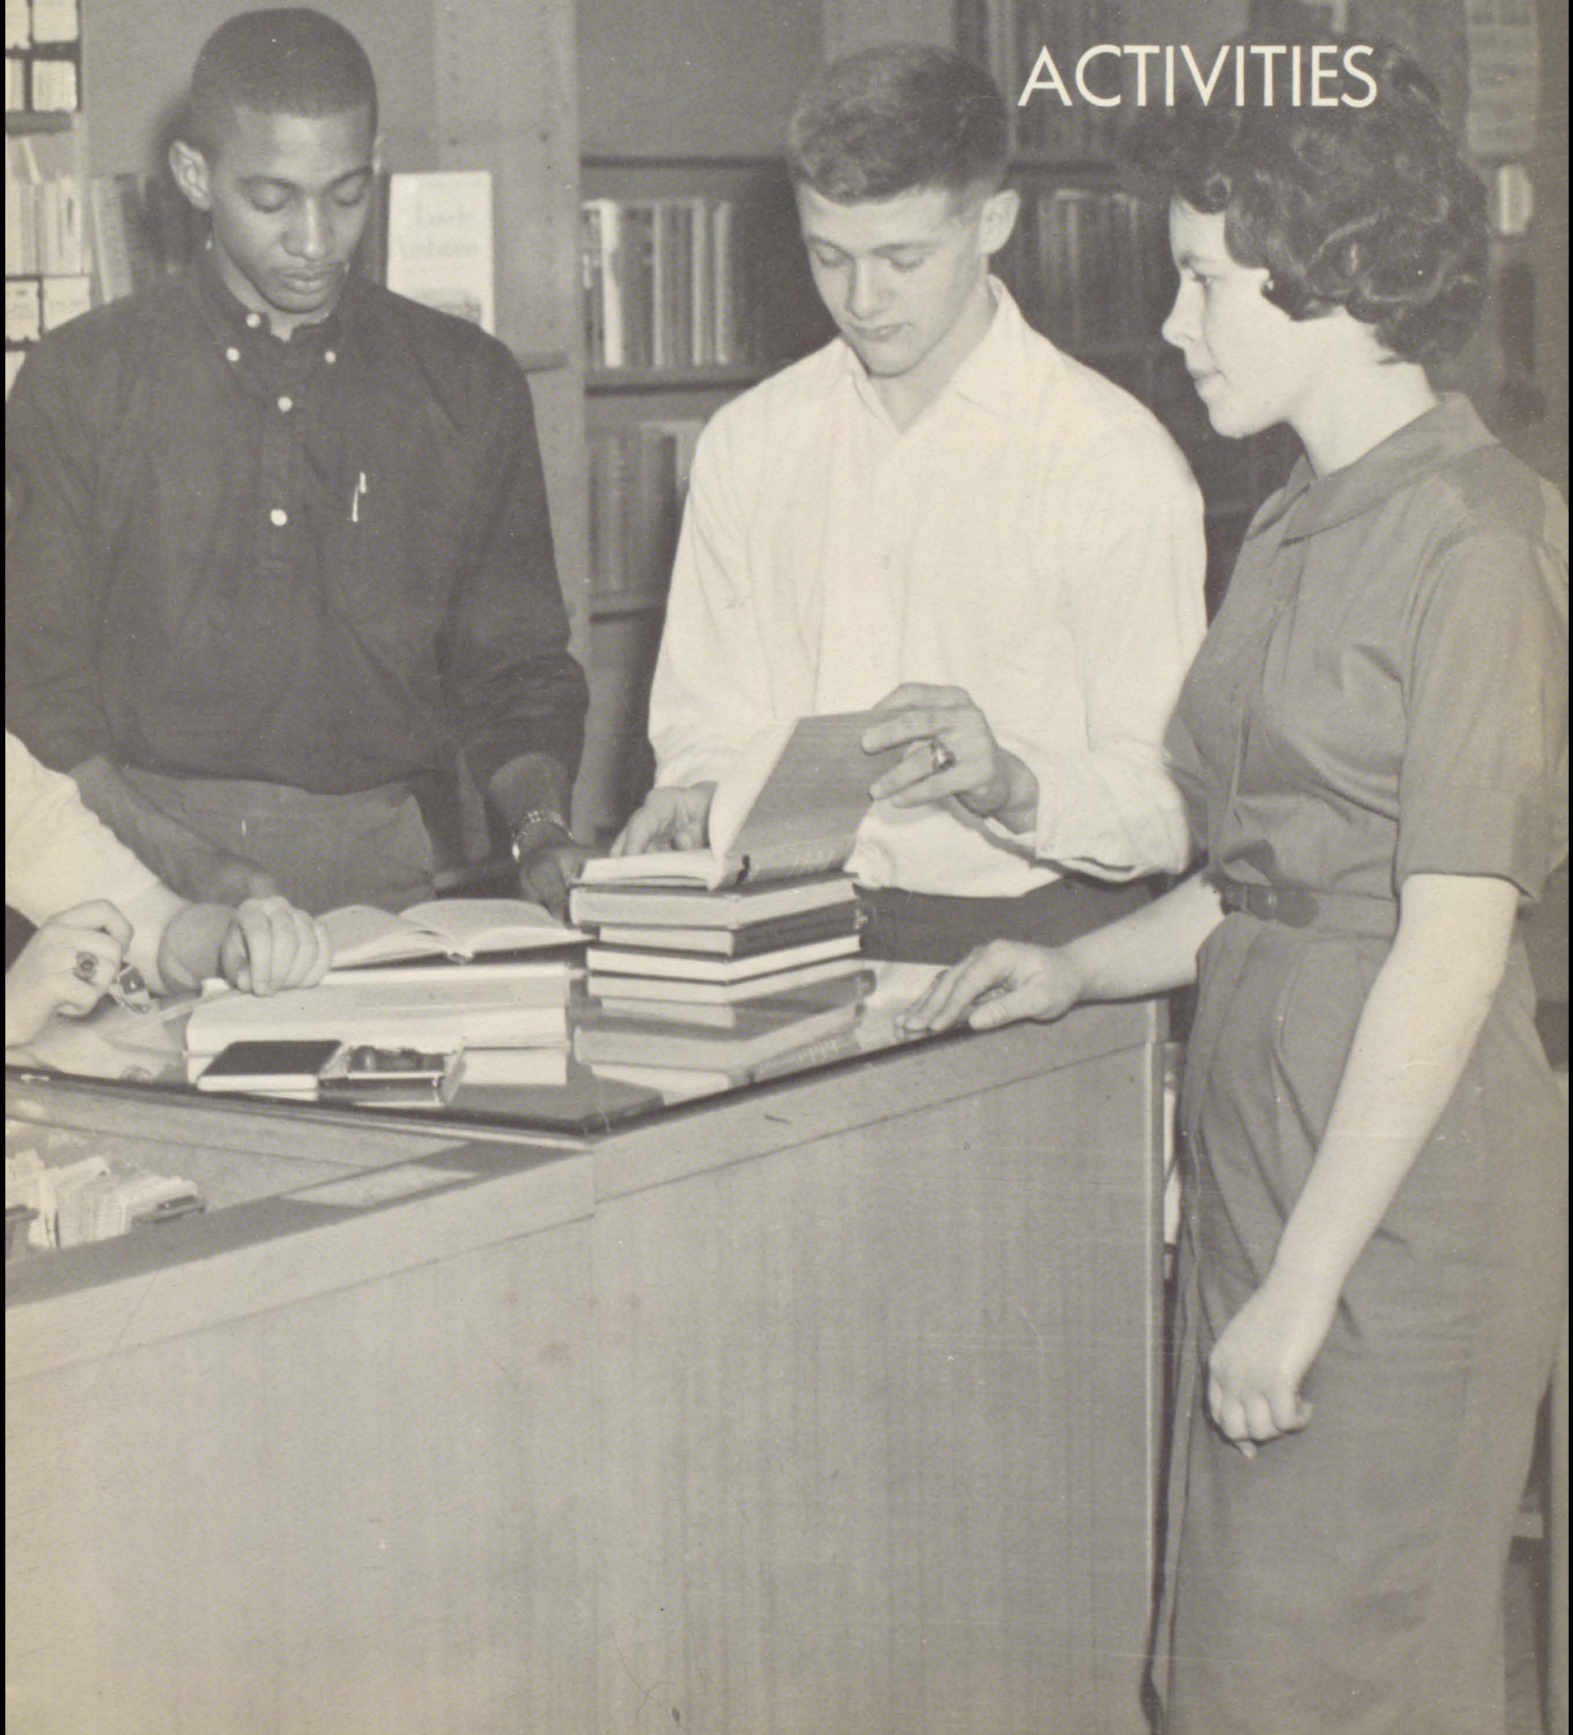

All these we will never forget — East Side, the teachers, the fun and the tears, the laughter and the cheers, studying and report cards. They have become part of us, just as East Side will always be.

"Enough, if something from our hands have power
To live and act, and serve the future hour."

STUDENT COUNCIL—Mr. Joseph Young, Advisor

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the governing body of the school. It consists of delegates from each homeroom. The entire student body elects the officers.

Service to the school is the prime objective of this organization. The student body looks to the Student Council to set the pace and standards for the school.

Among the many activities of the Student Council are the printing of a "Student Handbook", maintenance of the student lounge and school bulletin boards, running the Miss Valentine Contest, putting on an annual show, and holding numerous school dances. Added to this impressive list of accomplishments, must be noted the booklet "Tips to Teens", a handbook on school orientation given to all new students. This year the Council also inaugurated a "Dress Up" day, with weekly prizes and recognition for the winners.

Much of the money raised by the Student Council goes into a scholarship fund, awarded upon graduation to the student who has done most for the school government.

ANNOUNCER STAFF
Mrs. Virginia Lepore, Advisor

East Side's school newspaper the "Announcer" is a paper written by and for the students. All news of importance to East Siders can be found in its monthly editions.

The Announcer helps publicize the many activities carried on by school groups and reports all important events and sports results.

This paper serves as a link between the four classes from freshmen to senior and helps bind the entire student body together by keeping all students aware of what is going on in their school.

HONOR SOCIETY

The highest honor a student can achieve is to be elected to the National Honor Society. Grades are not the only criteria for admittance. Service to the school, character development, leadership ability, as well as a high scholastic average, are all objectives toward which potential candidates must strive and upon which they will be judged.

East Side can well be proud of the number and quality of those of her students chosen for this honor.

One outstanding feature of club activities is service to the school and the students. The Key Club and Servette members serve at dances, evening programs, graduation, and teas. They care for wraps and serve cokes. They come early and stay late.

Their service is matched by that of the library staff whose free time is put to helping the library run smoothly for the benefit of all. The Future Teachers of America assist teachers and tutor students, thereby gaining valuable experience for themselves as well as performing a service.

Many members of the Junior Red Cross work as volunteers in hospitals and prepare boxes of first aid items, toys, gloves, and the like for overseas shipment.

Time is sometimes just too short to cover everything in class. For this reason eager students get together after school to pursue their particular academic interests. We have the History, Spanish, Latin, Business, and Electronics and Science Clubs. These clubs offer opportunities for meeting other students with like interests and contribute many cultural additions to school life in the form of trips, lectures and colorful assembly programs.

East Side can be proud of the many fine athletes she has produced. Sports at East Side are varied and numerous so that many students can take part.

Team playing stresses not only competition and physical fitness but also the development of character, team work, sportsmanship, and camaraderie. Friendships are made which last beyond high school. Skill, physical fitness, and character development are the foundation stones upon which East Side's sports activities are founded.

Here the spirit of brotherhood is evident upon the playing field. Here, all differences are forgotten and a boy's worth is judged by his contribution to the team.

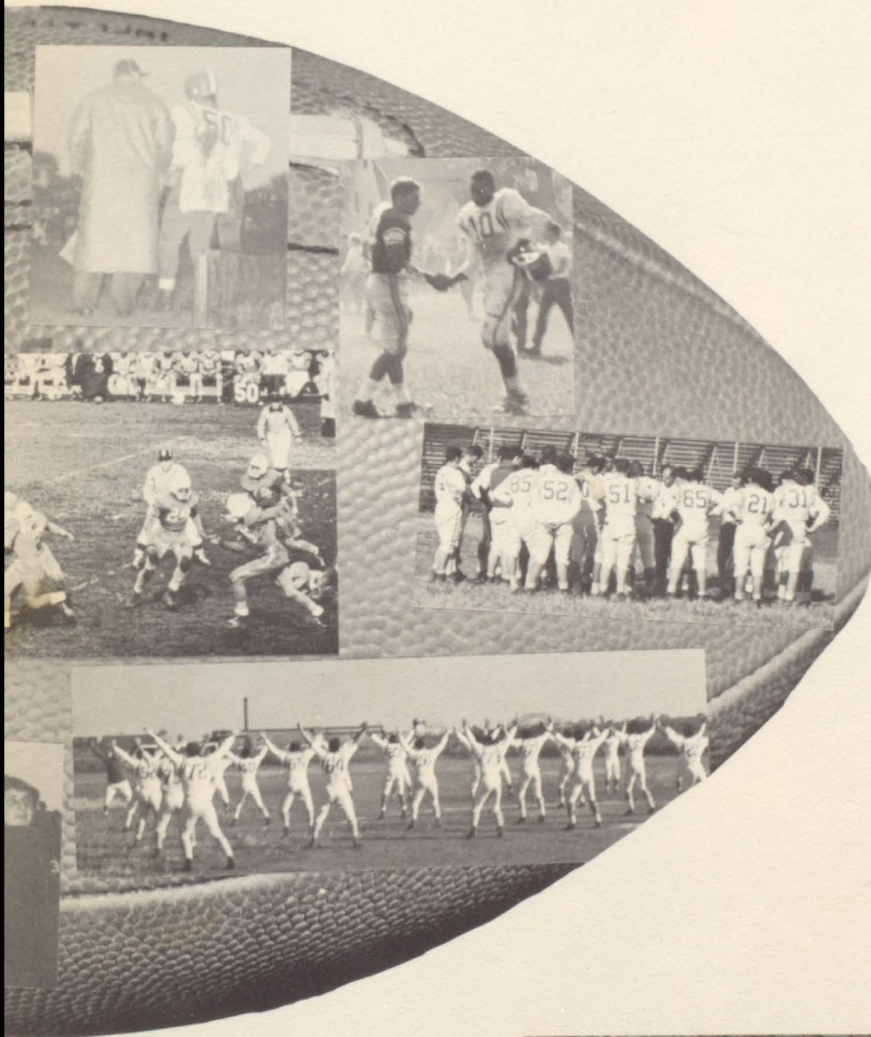

What is learned on the sports field is carried over into the daily work of all East Side endeavors.

The lesson learned through sports is a lesson learned for life.
